

SENATOR WESELY: Yes.

SENATOR HALL: Don, now I understand the part of the reasons why we're repealing the sections that we talked about that deal with prophylactic issue, but can you...it's my understanding that prophylactics are the basic guard against transporting the AIDS virus through sexual contact. Isn't that correct?

SENATOR WESELY: If you're going to engage in sexual activity, it's the one recommended protection that you should take.

SENATOR HALL: And then through 1012 what we're doing is we're repealing any oversight or regulation that the State Health Department would have with regard to sale or manufacture of condoms. Is that correct?

SENATOR WESELY: Right, uh, huh.

SENATOR HALL: And the reason for that you said was a court case that ruled, what?

SENATOR WESELY: That it was unconstitutional.

SENATOR HALL: Oh. What did they rule unconstitutional about it?

SENATOR WESELY: I think it was just...oh...

SENATOR HALL: The only reason I'm...

SENATOR WESELY: ...restriction of trade. It was limited to only like, I think, pharmacies to sell and they just said that was unconstitutional.

SENATOR HALL: Okay. I could see repealing that part of the law, but what we're repealing here is everything that deals with any kind of oversight with regard to quality, whether the manufacturers name is even stamped on it. I guess, would this open the doors, is it possible that this would open the door that, you know, Joe and Rick's condoms could start being sold and there is no oversight with regard to...

SENATOR WESELY: Quality.

SENATOR HALL: Yeah, quality or manufacture or anything like
